Ways for getting artificial teeth

There are many ways in which you can go for artificial teeth by a specialist orthodontist, some of which has been discussed here:

1. Flipper's teeth –

Flipper's teeth are inexpensive false teeth that fit into the mouth like a partial denture. These false teeth are made out of acrylic and attached to an acrylic resin base. Since flipper teeth are of lesser quality, since the entire apparatus is usually made from plastic as compared to traditional partial dentures or traditional dentures, they have not been considered a permanent solution to tooth replacement. It can only be used for a short period of time being until the person can afford to get a permanent tooth replacement.

2. Dental Bridge –

A dental bridge is a type of false tooth that is placed between two crowns, it is usually made up of porcelain that is used in place of missing teeth. A fixed bridge is attached on either side of false tooth or teeth. A bridge is mainly used in cases where a front tooth is missing and is more noticeable.

3. Dental implants –

In addition to partial denture or bridge, a much stronger permanent solution has come along and that is dental implants. An implant is placed in a patient's mouth by inserting a small screw into the patient's gum, where it eventually fuses to the jaw, and afterward, an implant is attached. This option not only provides you with a permanent solution for your missing tooth or teeth, but also it naturally fits with the rest of the teeth in your mouth.
