

As with all Crocs shoes, they are easy to wash and can be worn in a variety of situations. This makes them an ideal choice for chefs and line cooks, as well as healthcare workers, service providers and those who work in retail.

These are also a good choice for yoga teachers as they're easy to slip on after practice and keep your feet cool. They come in a variety of colors and are also very supportive for your feet, as they're made with Croslite foam construction.

Crocs are an iconic brand that have survived multiple precarious economic climates. Even during the last recession, when many people thought that they were going to be a thing of the past, they have managed to stay afloat. They have also managed to maintain a very high stock price, which is a sign that the company is doing something right.

Despite their tongue-in-cheek reputation, strawberry Crocs have dominated the shoe world. Their foam clogs are now staples of gorpcore bros, streetwear lovers, and even your uncle in Colorado who has the best garden.

While they may not be the right choice for everyone, Crocs are comfortable and versatile enough to wear for casual activities. If you are looking for a comfortable and stylish pair of shoes that will take you through the summer, Crocs are the perfect option.

all terrain Crocs

For those who love to go hiking, Crocs are one of the best options for footwear. They are comfortable, lightweight, breathable, and don't absorb water like a lot of hiking shoes. They are also durable and easy to clean, so they can be a great addition to your backpacking gear.