

- I have had the privilege of being a student athlete. This potential leadership role can open up many opportunities for you to make a difference on the court, in the classroom and also in the lives of others around you. (...) For example, if you go to help clean up a park, this allows for children to have a safer environment to play and makes the landscape look cleaner. This could create a domino effect. If others see that people are caring for their surroundings, this could inspire them to help with another neighborhood project. (...)
- 10 You can help your community by serving it with work; however, just as importantly, you can also make a difference by having a good attitude and loving the people around you. Athletics provides a unique opportunity that could be a model of selflessness instead of being used for self-promotion.

↑ How can student athletes make a difference, MIAA Student Sportsmanship

- I have had the privilege of being a student athlete. This potential leadership role can open up many opportunities for you to make a difference on the court, in the classroom and also in the lives of others around you. (...) For example, if you go to help clean up a park, this allows for children to have a safer environment to play and makes the landscape look cleaner. This could create a domino effect. If others see that people are caring for their surroundings, this could inspire them to help with another neighborhood project. (...)
- 10 You can help your community by serving it with work; however, just as importantly, you can also make a difference by having a good attitude and loving the people around you. Athletics provides a unique opportunity that could be a model of selflessness instead of being used for self-promotion.

↑ How can student athletes make a difference, MIAA Student Sportsmanship

